

George Mansfield

SAP design consultant, Siemens Enterprise Communications
Chairman of Finance SIG

At Siemens, George is responsible for the support and development of the SAP system and its users.

As such, his role has been a central one throughout the company's multi-phased transition from local standalone systems to a worldwide SAP organism using ECC 6.

As a fellow of the Institute of Chartered Accountants, George boasts broad business experience— a real asset in his current position, creating IT systems which are able to sustain the business while its needs develop and change.

It is this breadth of experience, underpinned by his financial background, that propelled George to where he is today, and he is proud to have helped re-instate the Audit Security and Control Special Interest Group. His latest interest is in forming a Business Process Sig.

From business process design and change management, to obtaining useful information from raw data, and achieving best value from SAP by using it to its full advantage - George is a GP in IS, calling on specialists for expertise. His ethos is to learn from others and share with others, and this fits with the User Group philosophy.
