Sony Music migrates Som Livre into SAP

Sony Music is one of the largest record labels in the world, responsible for the production, distribution, and promotion of a wide range of musical genres. Following the acquisition of Som Livre, Sony Music needed to migrate the business data into SAP.

Sony Music selected Xmateria's proven data migration approach and methodology to integrate their newly acquired business, Som Livre, into their SAP system, resulting in a cost-effective and efficient program that reduced risk, complexity and cost. Collaboration between Sony Music and Xmateria was crucial to meeting the specific data requirements of the project, resulting in a seamless integration into SAP.

The successful data migration project had several benefits for Sony Music, including accurate data transfer, on-time and on-budget project delivery, consolidation of essential business data into a centralised system, streamlined data management processes, improved business operations, and enhanced future business decision-making capabilities.

"Xmateria used a tailored approach and a team of experienced consultants to design and manage the integration of the Som Livre business into our SAP system. The project was superbly led from start to finish, resulting in plans to continue collaborating with Xmateria on future SAP requirements."
