12:10	Planning Tools : what are the implications of the options? SAP are promoting BPC (recently acquired Outlooksoft) as the tool of choice for planning. This has licence and cost implications for customers. Some customers have already committed to going down the IP route, and are wondering what the differences are. Is IP redundant? What are the advantages of BPC? Will IP still be fit for purpose for a few years? Hexarus Consulting has analysed the differences, strengths and weaknesses of IP and BPC, and will present for those customers who have made the choice and need reassurance, and those who are still trying to decide.		Hexarus
