14:00	Project Training – planning for success		Janice Brown Larmer Brown
	As Project and IT Managers recognise the benefits of eLearning , the requirement for Learning & Development professionals to support both the technology and the change in the method of training delivery gathers pace. In a global organisation it is not unusual for several eLearning initiatives to be run in silos. As technologies supporting content development and learning management systems evolve, choosing the right solution whilst acknowledging and supporting existing content becomes more complex. All this and budget restrictions too! This session provides an insight into how Larmer Brown supports clients looking to invest in these tools and provides a clear indication of what you can expect and should receive.
14:45	Product Showcase – content development		Tom Poynter Larmer Brown
	Tim Poynter provides a compilation of two eLearning Tools. As well as a demonstration providing feature and function comparisons, license restrictions and typical pricing scenarios.
15:30	Open Discussion / Questions		All
16:00	Close		All
