| 11:45 | Do the academic view of a dashboards really deliver actionable insight?
The author Stephen Few from Perceptual Edge set out a Dashboard Design Competition in late 2012 to "showcase for the current state of expert dashboard design" and we will use this as the basis for an interactive session. We will walk through the dataset used and then break into small groups and design on paper a dashboard to meet the competition brief.

Hopefully people will be happy to share their designs to the group and we will finish off by critiquing my submission and competition winners. | Andrew Fox
